

MCRC Internal Engagement Plan 2016 Casting Call

Calling all Marines – Be in a commercial – casting call April 18

Marine Corps Recruiting Command (MCRC) will host a casting call for Marines in the National Capital Region at the Marine Corps Exchange aboard Marine Corps Base Quantico April 18.

Marines of all ranks, military occupational specialties and backgrounds will be considered for the opportunity to be featured in future MCRC advertising projects.

“We are always in search of highly qualified Marines from various MOSs, backgrounds and ethnicities who will best represent the Marine Corps and the face of the nation,” said Capt. Amber Schroeder, digital engagement officer, MCRC. “This casting call is a rare opportunity for Marines to assist us in influencing and recruiting the future of the Marine Corps.”

Marines interested in this unique opportunity should be in good standing with the Marine Corps. They will be screened for any moral, legal, physical or other issues which could bring discredit on the Marine Corps.

Those interested should visit the MCRC Casting Team at the Exchange on April 18. Prior to the visit, Marines should complete the pre-screening paperwork (although walk-ins are welcome) at www.mcrc.marines.mil/casting.

No command involvement is required for pre-screening. Commands are encouraged to find their most eligible Marines and encourage them to apply. Prior to each advertising project, MCRC will contact selected Marines and their commands for approval and command screening.
